wellboard: winner of the iF Material Award 2005

iF cube emphasizes the flexible and spontaneous properties of the material wellboard was awarded the first-time iF Material Award 2005 in the category "Material and Application of Material". The properties of the material and the innovative results for new products and applications were assessed.

In the context of the 2005 Hannover Fair, the winners of the iF Material Award were presented at the special show "Material Trends".

For this fair, well gmbh has developed a mobile cube which functions like a roller shutter. wellboard is rolled up like a pillar and is pulled out to become a partition which can spontaneously be adapted to suit a wide variety of uses.

well gmbh will gladly provide interested joiners with design drawings and samples free of charge.
